

No. 2, AUGUST 1, 1927.

PEARCE, LOUISE, and MURPHY, JAMES B. Further observations on the inability to transmit a rabbit neoplasm by cell-free materials.	205
LANDSTEINER, K., and LEVINE, PHILIP. On a specific substance of the cholera vibrio.	213
CHESNEY, ALAN M., HALLEY, CHARLES R. L., and KEMP, JAROLD E. Studies in experimental syphilis. VII. Reinoculation of treated and untreated syphilitic rabbits with heterologous strains of Treponema pallidum	223

CONTENTS

vii

	PAGE
ROBERTSON, OSWALD H., and SIA, RICHARD H. P. Studies on pneumococcus growth inhibition. VII. The relation of opsonins to natural resistance against pneumococcus infection.....	239
NEILL, JAMES M., and FLEMING, WILLIAM L. Studies on the oxidation and reduction of immunological substances. VI. The "reactivation" of the bacteriolytic activity of oxidized pneumococcus extracts.....	263
FLEMING, WILLIAM L. Studies on the oxidation and reduction of immunological substances. VII. The differentiation of tetanolysin and tetanospasmin.....	279
JONES, F. S. The effect of heat on antibodies.....	291
JONES, F. S. Agglutination by precipitin.....	303
DOAN, CHARLES A., and SABIN, FLORENCE R. Local progression with spontaneous regression of tuberculosis in the bone marrow of rabbits, correlated with a transitory anemia and leucopenia after intravenous inoculation. Plates 8 to 10.....	315
TILLETT, WILLIAM S. Studies on immunity to Pneumococcus mucosus (Type III). III. Increased resistance to Type III infection induced in rabbits by immunization with R and S forms of pneumococcus.....	343
ZINSSER, HANS, and TANG, FEI-FANG. Studies in ultra-filtration.....	357
DUVAL, CHARLES W., and HIBBARD, R. J. Nature of the toxic moiety of Streptococcus scarlatinæ	379